Fired firefighters are outstanding people

Monday, January 22, 2007

I have lived in Kingman since 1959 and have been a police officer here for 26 years. In that time, I also served for seven years as a volunteer firefighter with the Kingman Fire Department.

It is my deeply held belief that firefighters are some of the most outstanding, honest and reliable community members we have, and they certainly deserve our support. Having never met Chief Eder, I don't feel it is my place to comment on him personally, so I won't. But I can say that I have never witnessed anything even close to the upheaval we are now seeing with the Hualapai Valley Fire Department.

I can also say that I personally know at least two of the firefighting professionals whose lives and families have recently been deeply affected by their terminations.

These individuals are outstanding people, fathers and members of our community, and I stand behind them.
